ABOUT TOZEUR

Much more than a destination

Christian then Muslim, Tozeur is a city with many facets:

- Cultural, with several museums and an important poetic tradition, Tozeur has been home to many literary figures.
- Architectural, with its medina dating from the the 16th century, characterised by geometric brick patterns in relief, unique in Tunisia.
- Mystical, with its marabouts, mausoleums which fascinate locals and visitors alike.

Situated to the north-west of Chott el Jerid, the largest salt plain in the country, close to the Algerian border, Tozeur is a city on the edge of the Atlas Mountains and the Sahara Desert. Tozeur has spanned the centuries, its history dating back to the third millennium BC.

It was an important stopover city and haven of peace for caravanners until the 19th century, thanks to its palm grove, the largest in Tunisia, with over 400,000 date palms.

The exceptional natural setting that surrounds Tozeur, with its oases, breathtaking scenery and enchanting atmosphere, completes its richness and appeal, earning it the appellation of "pearl of the desert".

DAR TOZEUR

Palace of Arabian Nights

In the heart of the Tozeur medina, behind its imposing studded door, Dar Tozeur is a haven of peace. The Dar consists of several courtyards lined with lush vegetation, a restaurant, eight suites with private bathrooms, each with its own unique character, two swimming pools, a spa, indoor and outdoor lounges and many other secrets.

Its roof terrace offers a panoramic view extending from the city to the Chott el Jérid, passing by the palm grove.

Luxury, calm and pleasure

Perfect harmony between refinement, comfort and authenticity, in the pure local architectural tradition, Dar Tozeur has been furnished with refined inspired by the skills of Tunisian craftsmen and antique dealers, for an elegant and soothing atmosphere.
